Cover me

Seep gently into my bones

I swear to you I won't live my life all alone

Talk to me

Read my thoughts if you dare

It breaks my heart to know that you don't care

I'm release because your actions speak louder than words

Cover me, is that what you heard

I keep you in mind

And love you there in the dark

But that's in my head which cannot rule my heart

Run away

I know that's just what you'll do

You're a mist in my eyes a moment in time that's gone without a clue

I'm released, and I see it there in your stare

Bury me, because I don't care

I'm released, and It's just like I said it would be

I'm released and, finally free
